Despatch and Invoice

Of course you want to raise a delivery-ticket at short notice. For example – a customer's truck has just pulled into your yard to collect material. But you will also want to optimise your shipping, perhaps by loading your truck with material ordered by several customers in the same general geographic area. SM allows you to do both or either.

Equally, a cash customer probably needs an invoice there and then, but your account customers are more conveniently invoiced once a week, say. Again, SM provides the required flexibility.

Key Features

- Transport-planning facilities allow you to optimise shipping costs
- Flexibly print despatch-tickets: eg a ticket for a single sale, or all tickets for one transport-plan; optionally barcode the tickets so they can be later scanned as proof-of-delivery (see accompanying eDoc page)
- Optionally print (or email or fax, etc) your own test-certificate or letter-of-conformity
- Automatically select a default set of stationery to accompany the shipment (eg this sale requires an advice-note only, that one an advice-note, a copy mill-cert and a letter of conformity). Print or email or fax the selected set to the customer's designated contact(s)
- Monitor your delivery-performance
- Invoice a despatch individually or bulk-invoice all outstanding despatches. Again, direct emails automatically to the customers' invoice-receipt contacts
- Post invoices into your sales-ledger (provided you are running one of the leading ledger suites to which we integrate).
